Kunsthall Trondheim is a new contemporary art institution which will open in the old fire station in Trondheim city centre. The new location will offer two levels of exhibition space of approximately 1000 m². Since 2013 Kunsthall Trondheim has been run as a pilot project by director Helena Holmberg, and on the initiative of the city of Trondheim and the county of Sør-Trøndelag. Kunsthall Trondheim is supported by the Art Council Norway. The programme has included exhibitions, productions, publications, discussions, international collaborations and informal residency-visits.
